Hadleigh's are amongst the more professional agencies I have worked with and you really see the benefits of working with an independent firm that has deep knowledge of the Hampstead area down to the individual property level. In addition to being very knowledgeable about Belsize Park, Michael was forthcoming with practical advice about property and the transaction process. He was also quite prompt, responsive and unfailingly pleasant. There was none of those high pressure sales tactics which have made me reluctant to engage with other agents.
